VISION2020

Our vision is for an industry where human rights and sustainability are not the effects of a particular initiative but the cause of a business well run. Where social and environmental injustices are not unfortunate outcomes but reasons to do things differently.

“We’re taking responsibility for what we make
—and where it ends up”

- Eileen Fisher

A white tank top is hanging on a gold wire hanger against a background of various fabric textures, including gauze and mesh. The tank top features a bold, dark red, sans-serif text message. The text is arranged in seven lines, centered on the front of the garment. The overall aesthetic is minimalist and slightly ironic.

In 2009, EILEEN FISHER started a take-back program—part of a circular system designed to preserve the value of its clothes at every stage. The brand has since collected over 1.3 million garments, giving those that are still in good condition a second and third life before designating pieces that are beyond repair as raw material for Waste No More.
